Vitalized Agriculture in Demand.

It is interesting to notice how rapidly and promiscuously the project of Vitalized Agriculture is spreading in our states. A request came from Texas a few days ago asking for some experienced teachers of Vitalized agriculture to come to Texas. Mr. Cooper, Supt. of Nodaway County Schools, just recently received a request from Mr. Showalter, Supt. of a large consolidated district in Missouri for experienced teachers of Vitalized Agriculture. Louisville sends an inquiry and a request for teachers of the subject.

Mr. Cnuffield is teaching an extension class at Plattsburg, Mo. There are nine enrolled, three of whom are Superintendents, others being high school teachers. It is a double course, one class being Economic Geography of South America and the other Principles of Human Geography. These students are carrying five hours of work. One interesting feature of this course is that some of those enrolled are former students of Harvard and Columbia.

Blanche Landfather, a former S. T. C. student, and now principal at Darlington, Mo., spent the week end, March 11-13 at the country home of Zoe McKee near Rolekow.

Evidence of the high standard of work done in the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College is given by membership in—

The American Association of Teachers Colleges—
Class A.

The North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges—Senior College Rank.

The Conference of Missouri State Educational Institutions.

All of the above are standardizing association of the highest rank.

Oratorical Contest March 25—Four Colleges Represented.

John Lawton, our representative to the inter-collegiate oratorical contest will leave for Cape Girardeau, March 24 where he will deliver an oration entitled "Crime."

Mr. Lawton's opponent from Springfield is Jesse B. Johnson who will speak on the subject of "International Arbitration." Warrensburg sends as its representative Miss Edna McGuire whose subject is "Industrial Courts as a Safeguard of Democracy." Cape Girardeau enters as its contestant Miss Helen Moore. Miss Moore will speak on "The Builder," taking as her viewpoint the common man.

Join the Husky Hikers

Four of the Husky Hikers planned a short hike Wednesday afternoon, March 16. They prevailed upon Joe Wells to convey them up town that they might purchase "cats" to sustain them on their way. He was so obliging that he took them in his Ford six miles north and they walked back. This is one of the few hikes in which the hikers have walked only one way, the others being somewhat larger trips to Wilcox and Arkoe, return being made by train. Mabel Cook was hike leader, the others were Mary Condon, Ethel Andrews and Jeannie Blacklock.

The weather and the roads are ideal for hiking. Let everyone enjoy a five or six mile walk after school. Let us go often and enjoy the early spring before it is too warm for brisk walking.

Mildred Garten, took dinner with Gladys Sewell, Monday evening, March 14, it being Miss Sewell's birthday.

Misses Celia Welden of Bethany, Mo., LaVora Hudson of Osborn, Mo., and Frieda Shaffer of Kansas City spent the week-end, March 11-13 at Gilman City. All three attended Maryville S. T. C., last year and are now teaching.

Miss Mildred Miller Talks On "What Is Community Service."

Miss Mildred Miller talked to a group of forty teachers of Vitalized Agriculture in Nodaway County, Saturday, March 12, in the court house at 2:30. Her subject was "What is Community Service." She explained Community Service as a way of developing and unifying all the various agencies in a community so that they may function together in such a way that they shall be of greatest value to all people in the community, or put it another way: community service is a means thru which people of the community come together with the idea of playing together, thinking together. Community spirit should double comfort, happiness and attractiveness on the farm. Every acre should not only yield greater crops but a greater culture, a greater civilization and more effective manhood and womanhood.

These teachers have planned two community days before the close of school. First is on School Election Day, when the children will give a program built around their needs and how school boards may aid them. The second program will be on developing Missouri as a state, to celebrate centennial year.

Seeds for Sale

In response to a demand for soy bean seed by farmers of this district, the State Teachers College grew twelve acres on the school farm. About one hundred and fifty bushels are now ready for distribution. The varieties are especially adapted to this section. They are: Medium Yellow, Maise, Wilson and Virginia.

The agriculture department has also about fifty bushels of seed corn for sale to the farmers of this district. The corn was grown on the experiment field and is good seed.

Lena Copeland and Leila Black attended the concert given by Fritz Kreisler in St. Joseph, Wednesday evening, March 9.

Senior Luncheon Is Joyous Event

The Menu and Table Decorations Were Suggestive of Ireland.

The six o'clock luncheon of the senior class which was held in the women's parlor March 18 was a very delightful affair. The luncheon was suggestive of St. Patrick's day and was modish in every detail.

A color scheme of green and white was carried out in the menu and table decorations. The dining table which was laid with green and white crepe paper runners featuring Irish lads and lasses was centered with a miniature lake in which floated water lilies, fishes and small ducks. The napkins bore a design similar to the runners. White doilies with shamrock motifs were used while novel St. Patrick place cards marked the plates for each guest. Unique nut baskets in green and white were placed at each cover.

The menu was as follows:

King's Mixture	Olives
Pimento Cheese Sandwiches
Hawaiian Salad	Lettuce Sandwiches
	Marshmallow Pudding
	Whipped Cream
White Cake with Green Icing
Green Tea	Salted Nuts
Green and White Mints.

The room was artistically decorated for the occasion. Streamers of green and white crepe paper were suspended from the lights which were shaded. Ferns were arranged about the room making the scene very pretty.

At the conclusion of the luncheon Olivette Godsey, a member of the class who is an Easter bride-elect was presented a gift by the sponsors and the other class members. The announcement of Miss Godsey's engagement to Dr. Harry Dunshee was made at the February luncheon.

Those present Friday evening were: Miss Winn, Miss MacLeod, Edna Turner, Wave Hulet, Nell Hudson, Charles Wells, Olivette Godsey, Ada Dinsmore, Bernice Rutledge, Alma Lucas, Minnie James, ViJune Colden and Mary Wooldridge.

The committee in charge of the luncheon was Nell Hudson, Ada Dinsmore, and Wave Hulet.

Miss MacLeod, Miss DeLuce, Miss Wilfley, Miss Minnie and Margaret James, Miss Dow, Mr. Kutachinski, Ethel Andrews and Maude Kibbe heard Kreisler the violinist in St. Joseph, March 9.

Here and There Among the Colleges

In-the-State.

The Cape Girardeau College Basketball team closed the most successful season in the history of the court game, Monday night, March 7, when they defeated the team from Springfield Teachers College by the score of 40-20. The Cape quintet won ten out of thirteen games played this season.

The Inter-Collegiate debates will be held in May. The three colleges that have entered are Springfield, Kirksville, and Cape Girardeau. Each school will prepare two teams—one on the negative side and one on the affirmative side. Cape Girardeau will send one team to Springfield, Springfield will send one team to Kirksville, and Kirksville will send one team to Cape Girardeau.

The question for debate is: "Resolved, That the open shop movement should receive the support of the American people."

At the closely contested State Oratoricals held at Park College, Thursday night, March 3, Tarkio won first, Park second, and Central Wesleyan third. Five colleges were represented in the contest.

The orators were as follows:

In Behalf of the American Boy—Lawrence Havinghurst—Central Wesleyan.

The Challenge of Leadership—H. P. Winsborough—Westminster.

The Greater Man—Griegsen Pateresen—Tarkio.

Harnessing the Crowd—Floyd Morris—William Jewell.

Warrensburg has just closed a brilliant conference basketball season. The Teachers won ten games and lost none. All games were won by margins of thirteen or more points.

The Teachers were also successful in their non-conference games. The K. C. A. C. team was the only team that was able to head the Teachers off this year. K. C. A. C. won from the Teachers by a score of 30-27.

The annual basket ball tournament given under the auspices of the Central Missouri State Teachers College at Warrensburg began March 11 and ended March 12. It is the largest tournament ever held by the college. Twenty boys' teams and eight girls' teams represented high schools throughout the district. It was the first time the girls' teams have been recognized and this proved quite an added feature. Large delegations of rooters were present from all towns having teams entered in the contest.

The girls' sextette at William Jewell gave three very successful concerts during the week March 7-12. These were presented in Liberty, Holt and Kansas City.

The sections of the United States and other parts of the world that are represented in the winter terms enrollment of the school of journalism, University of Missouri are evidence of its reputation as a school of its type. Twenty-two states and two foreign countries are represented in the enrollment of the present winter term. They are: Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Texas, South Carolina, Colorado, Kansas, Arkansas, West Virginia, New Mexico, Tennessee, California, Nebraska, Montana, Oklahoma, North Carolina, Alabama, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wyoming, Kentucky, China and the Philippine Islands.

Out-of-the-State.

Graceland Varsity team played the best game of the season, March 19 at Palmer College, Albany, Mo. It was their first college game. The game was extra fast and exciting all the way thru and the first half ended with a score of 21-17, in Graceland's favor but Palmer College made a splendid comeback and the final score was 37-33 in favor of Palmer College.

Simmons College in Abilene, Texas has recently received the gift of an oil well now in operation.

Smith College, Northampton, Mass., has recently been given by legacy, five large buildings, and the ground surrounding them. These formerly constituted the Caper Preparatory School for girls in Northampton.

Miss Dow, Mr. Miller and Mr. Foster went to Ravenwood Friday, March 18 to judge a debate between Ravenwood and Bethany.

Miss Arnett spent March 12-13, visiting in Kansas City. While there she saw Booth Tarkington's play, "Clarance," a clever comedy of adolescence.

Miss Arnett attended the high school debate at Ravenwood Friday night, March 18.

Miss Jennie Garrett entertained the First Methodist Church Chior, after rehearsal Thursday evening March 17, in the church parlors.

Mrs. Caroline Leet substituted for Miss Mary Lewis in the second and third grades of the Franklin School, March 17 and 18. Miss Lewis went to Rolla to the State School of Mines to attend the St. Patrick's Celebration. While there she will be the guest of Philip Colbert, the son of Dean Colbert.

Mrs. Lucy Burch, mother of Helen Burch, one of our students, died in Kansas City, Kansas last Wednesday evening. The faculty and student extend sincere sympathy to Helen and her brother.

Alumni Notes.

Gussie Dills, 1920, who teaches in the high school at Albany and county superintendent Earl C. Duncan, came over Saturday, March 12 to attend the final tournament games.

Chrystelle Cranor, 1919, teacher of English at Burlington Junction was in Maryville to attend the games, March 11-12.

Edna Younger, 1916, is teaching Mathematics in the King City, Mo., high school, filling out the unexpired term for Edna Turner, who is now a student of S. T. C.

William Utter, 1916, attended the basketball tournament March 11-12.

U. L. Riley, 1920, Supt. at Rosendale brought his basket ball boys to the tournament March 11-12.

L. C. Richeson, 1915, who teaches in the high school at Tina was in Maryville for the tournament, March 11-12. He will be in S. T. C. during the summer term.

S. W. Skelton, 1915, who teaches at New Point was in Maryville for the tournament, March 11-12.

Lowell L. Livengood, B. S. 1920, accompanied the basket ball team from Elmo to the tournament. Mr. Livengood is superintendent of schools and athletic coach at Elmo this year.

Velma Appleby, B. S. 1920, teacher of domestic science at Jameson was in Maryville, March 11-13 to attend the tournament.

Carl Bosc, 1920, principal of schools at Stanberry, attended the tournament in Maryville, March 11-12.

Lillie Nelson, 1918, who now teaches at Bigelow attended the basketball tournament March 11-13. She will enter school again during the summer term.

Verne Piekens, B. S. 1918, coach for the football and basket ball teams at Excelsior Springs has not had a man taken out this year because of failure in class work. In fact, it is said, that his basketball men average higher in their studies than any other men in the school.

Piekens' basketball team was entered in the tournament but left Friday night after being eliminated.

Howard Leech, 1915, former basket ball star at S. T. C., now Manual Training teacher and athletic coach in the public schools at Anamosa, Ia., writes to S. H. Kemp that his team won first place in the college basket ball tournament at Lenox, Ia. "Hickory" writes that fourteen of the strongest teams in eastern Iowa competed in the tournament in which his team won. The prizes were a silver loving cup and a gold medal. "We certainly woke Anamosa up," says Hickory "and put her on the map for the rest of the country."

The following is taken from the Anamosa paper:

That the people of Anamosa and vicinity are keenly interested in clean sports was clearly shown by the interest manifested when the local high school basketball team was defeating all comers in the Lenox tournament. The followers of the team were jubilant because their expectations came true, the disinterested public were enthused because their old home town was blazing in glory. The high school team won a notable victory when they brought back from Hopkinton the big loving cup for first honors. Much credit for the success of the team must be given to their little peppy coach, Mr. Howard W. Leech. Saturday morning when the boys were paraded up main street there was one man in the column that was extremely happy, far more than the players themselves and this was the person under discussion. For four years Anamosa has entered the Lenox tournament and tried to turn the trick, but it took the little man from Missouri to show them how. In your "Who's Who" write the names of Coach H. W. Leech and his high school conquerors.

A. M. Darnell, B. S. 1920, now Superintendent at Craig, Colorado, writes most interestingly of his community. Among other things he says:

"Everything is high here—with the exception of coal and potatoes which are native products. Railway service from Denver over the Moffat Road is slow and tedious in winter and this with high rates makes imported products very high. We are now having tri-weekly service but if we succeed in getting a train that often we are fortunate as we are sometimes without a train for weeks when the pass over the Continental Divide is blocked with snow.

We have some very interesting and curious land forms near Craig. An extinct volcano towers just six miles out from town. Only a few miles farther on we have the largest coal mine in the world. Have stood in the mine where solid coal measured 25 feet thick. But such wonderful resources will never be greatly developed until better railroad facilities are provided. In that lies the future salvation of this country. Of nine entries made in Chicago at the International Grain Show, Moffat County wheat won eight premiums."

Northeast of K. C. Is State Champion.

Northeast High School of Kansas City won the state basketball tournament which was held at Columbia last Friday and Saturday. There were 20 schools entered in the two classes. The schools over 350 were in B Class and Northeast won in this section, while Warrensburg won in class A. Saturday night these two teams played for the championship. The final score was Northeast 43, Warrensburg 20.

The following schools were entered from northwest Missouri: Northeast, Central, St. Joseph, Lafayette, St. Joseph, New Hampton and Maryville. Of these teams all lost in the preliminaries except Northeast and Lafayette. Lafayette ran up to the finals in class A but was eliminated by Warrensburg.

Anna May Gillis spent March 19-20 with Maude Fleming at her home in Hopkins.

Departmental Notes.

English.

The Advanced Composition class is the largest class in the department this term. The number of boys is exceptionally large. The number in this class is important because it is an elective course and indicates an interest on the part of the students in improving the use of their mother tongue. At present they are studying a new book "Vital Forces in Current Events," by Speare and Norris as a model of exposition. Later in the term narration and short story writing will be studied.

Journalism.

The Journalism class is the largest it has ever been. There are more new members on the staff than experienced reporters. This is the first edition for which the new members have written. The first two weeks the new members studied the fundamentals of news writing and the old members of the staff edited the paper.

Tennis.

A tennis tournament was played Friday and Saturday, March 18 and 19, consisting of men's, women's and mixed doubles. Several will be played during the season to work up interest in this activity. Probably some out-of-town games will be played. There are at least forty girls playing.

Iva Williams, a former college student is the teacher there.

At Garret, the class observed the regular class work in Agriculture. The lesson for the day being the Preparation of the Seed Bed. Much interest was shown.

Track training has not been very vigorous recently owing to the work Mr. Rice had to do in getting ready for the tournament, however, the track men will begin work in earnest soon and a good showing is expected.

Art.

The students of the art department have placed their work on display in the north room. Those desiring to see the work are welcome to do so at any time.

The Missouri Health Crusade, a branch of the Missouri Tuberculosis Society, is conducting a poster campaign. Each district sends exhibits to their local college where they are judged and then passed along. Miss DeLuce, Mr. Glenn and Miss Brunner are judges of the work that is sent to this college.

Agriculture.

The horticulture class has given special attention to the selection of various varieties of cabbage, tomato and pepper seed. After careful selection the seeds were planted in the greenhouse. The class expects to have an abundance of hardy plants. If there is a surplus it will be disposed of to anyone desiring plants of this kind.

The class last year carried out the experiment of applying commercial fertilizers to soils used in growing vegetables. The results showed an increased yield with its use. The same experiment will be performed this year. Dried blood, bone meal, nitrate of soda, sulphate of potash, and combinations of these will be used.

Hopkins.

Eight members of the senior class of the Hopkins high school took the county examination for teachers. The group included Lucian Creech, Grace Hall, Bernice Robbins, Helen Thompson, Georgia Whitney, Harley Belout, Edna Ballenger and Helen Miller.

Robert Winthrop Chanler.

Up to the present this weird and superbly talented artist is known to the western part of the country chiefly thru his matrimonial plunge, and his brush with politics. Now we are to forget that side of "Sheriff Bob" in our rapt contemplation of his powerful art. It is an oft-repeated comment that, "Chanler is to painting what Walt Whitman was to literature." And again, that "He has more of Poe than of Whitman." Some of his conceptions are like the dreams of poets—others remind one of the extravagant nightmares of imaginative children.

As a decorator, he is enjoying a tremendous vogue in and around New York City. Some of the most individual stained glass of our day is set together from his cartoons, and his recent commissions include the frescoed ceiling of an enormous ballroom in a costly mansion on Long Island. One of his decorative panels, 16 feet high, has been purchased for the city of Venice. One of his screens is in Chinese lacquer, so marvelous in its technique that it fooled an expert in old Chinese lacquers.

Chanler must be viewed thru the eyes of imagination. Art has the facts of nature for its foundation and for much of its superstructure, but hard realism in art is the bare, bald building, whereas the art that is filtered thru temperament and imagination is the glorious palace or the charmingly appointed home. Without a thorough grounding in the facts of nature the resulting art will not stand. But who shall say that dreams are not as much facts of nature as are trees and cows, flowing rivers and the bodies of human beings? When Chanler portrays dream shapes, he draws them to look like the things we see in dreams. Some literal minded people do not appreciate his color but it is really very beautiful and the decorative effect of his painting is superb.

International Federation of University Women.

A very important move in the right direction is the formation of the International Federation of University Women which became a definite working organization in July at a conference in London attended by university women from fifteen different nations.

The purpose of the Federation is "to promote understanding and friendship between the university women of the nations of the world, and thereby to further their interests and develop between their countries sympathy and mutual helpfulness." There may be no royal road to learning yet learning is a royal road to the promotion of international understanding and friendship. Scholarship is essentially humane and international, and that is not invariably the case with politics or commerce. Knowledge is not diminished but increased by sharing; territorial possessions and money are not so increased. On the other hand it is not the college women alone who are going to benefit by these friendships and contacts, it is the children of the whole country for the college women are, in a large measure, the teachers of the nation. True American teachers will have a strong and vital influence for the best and truest sort of internationalism.

Even now the Federation is working. They are working particularly to promote the interchange between nations of scholars, professors and instructors. Since the war some work of this kind has already been done. The Federation's plans include also the establishment in each country of headquarters which shall be centers of hospitality for foreign students and professors, places to which they can turn for help and information as well as for the making of social contacts. The National Club House established in Washington will be one of these centers, in the United States and it is hoped that the Women's University Club of New York will serve as another.

This working together, this mutual interchange of opinions and ideas means the setting in motion in each of the countries involved of forces enormously powerful for progress.

THE GREEN AND WHITE COURIER

The Stroller.

It is out at last, the identity of the Stroller has been discovered or at least Mr. Wells is reasonably certain that he has unraveled the mystery. He says it is perfectly simple when you know how and he gives us his reasons for forming this conclusion. Alma Morris having taken out a few books, had gone home and Mr. Wells, knowing his day's work was over, got his hat and started home, too. In the corridor just in front of Coach Rice's room, he saw a queer figure cutting antics. Mr. Wells had a hearty laugh and that no more of the matter until a few days later when the Courier came out and Nell Hudson came rushing up to him and asked, "Did you see the Stroller?"

Then his logical mind recalled the figure of a few days before and putting three and two together to make four, a great light dawned on him and it all came in a flash that the elusive Stroller had been before him.

As spring is here Ira Fantz took four days leave to sow oats. The Stroller wonders if they were wild oats. Ira had better explain.

Miss Dow is not the only member of the faculty who seems to be preparing for a housekeeping position. If you do not believe the Stroller just ask Miss Arnett to let you see her luncheon set.

The Stroller, at the senior supper, heard a scandalous tale which he can't believe, the several vouch for its truth and that is that Miss Anthony Miss Winn and Mary Wooldridge were flirting with a strange man on the Burlington train last Saturday night. More explanations are needed.

Dick Kirby has been receiving telephone calls from unknown persons. The Stroller wonders if he has been threatened by the "White Hand."

The seniors are very proud of their class president, Charles Wells. The other day he stepped up to the librarian and said, "I want a copy of Tennyson's poems but I can't think who wrote them."

Y. W. C. A.

The following program was given at the regular Y. W. C. A., devotional meeting, Wednesday, March 16:

Song ..... Holy, Holy, Holy Devotions ..... Bess Carl Solo ..... Mrs. Fred Robinson Reading ..... Mrs. Steinsmeyer Talk ..... "Redeeming the Time"

—Rev. Frank Mapel.

The program was enjoyed by all present. Rev. Mapel gave a very helpful talk in which he stressed the importance of using the opportunities that are ours. He gave the importance of watchfulness, industry, invention, preparation, self-sacrifice, and perseverance as they help in the direction and beneficial use of our time. Mr. Mapel impressed the thought that in this age, our time is precious and should be used to the very best advantage. We should all use the many opportunities given us because if we do not someone else will and we pay the price in our loss of opportunity.

The upper grades are making a collection of pictures of Missouri's noteworthy places and historical events. They are soon to start a trip around the world as a geography project.

The hot lunch project is ended and the serving of soup to the children at a cost of three cents a day was found to be both profitable to the general health condition and to the activity of the children.

The lunches paid for themselves and soup was served two weeks longer than intended on the same money. It was managed entirely by the upper grade boys and girls.

Literary Society Notes.

Philos.

The room was well filled and everyone responded with a good joke. Come on Philos, let's boost and boost and make things go.

Eurekan.

The Eurekans enjoyed an excellent program Thursday, March 17. Three people took part in the preliminaries for the declamation contest any one of whom the society would have been proud of as their representative. The contestants gave the following program:

The Fleet Goes by ..... Juanita Miller
Over the Balustrade ..... Margaret Dietz
How Ruby Played ..... Ruth Bookman
Miss Dow, Mr. Miller and Mr. Hawkins were the judges. They selected Juanita Miller as the society representative.

Another Eurekan Writes to Society.

The following is a letter from a former Eurekan received a few weeks ago. It was read in society but we know there are others who would enjoy reading it.

Miami, Arizona, Feb. 22, 1921.

Dear Eurekans:

I felt highly honored not long ago to receive a letter from the Eurekan Literary Society, wishing me a happy birthday. It was a little late in arriving but I enjoyed it nevertheless.

I am looking forward to the time when it will be announced in the paper that the Eurekans are winners of the inter-society literary contests. I don't expect anything else, so be sure that you win. I certainly would like to have a Eurekan pin. You send it to me and get the money from my mother to pay for it. That will be a good job for Wave. The line party and luncheon you had certainly sounded good and made me wish I could have been there to have attended it.

Miami is a copper mining town of about 12,000. There are two large mines here and one of the largest smelters in the world.

I am having a dandy good time here and enjoy my work so much. The school I'm in is a good one and we have a fine lady superintendent. We have special music, and physical education teachers.

The mountain trips out from Miami are wonderful. I have been to Roosevelt Dam twice and to the Cliff Dwellings once. If you all were to come out here, I'm sure you would like it.

Wishing you success in the Literary Contests, I close,

Sincerely yours,

LOU MUTZ.

George Somerville, Supt. at Hopkins and Leslie Somerville, Supt. at Clearmont, both former S. T. C. students, attended the tournament, Mar. 11-12. Both expect to attend the summer school.

The following quotation is taken from the Kansas City Star:

"Frances Emberson, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. R. H. Emberson of Columbia, Mo., is another child to leap into the ranks of Missouri's prodigy class. She is just eight years old, but has shown marked ability at the piano. Crowded houses have greeted two programs which she has played in the auditorium at Christian College, where she is studying music."

Prof. Emberson was formerly an instructor in S. T. C.

Mr. Rice was absent from school Monday of last week on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. William Oakerson of Jefferson City, announce the birth of a son, Monday, Mar. 7. Mr. Oakerson was formerly superintendent of Nodaway county schools.

Mr. A. H. Cooper, county superintendent of schools, reports that a smaller number took the Teachers examinations than he expected. Mr. Cooper expects a scarcity of experienced teachers this spring in Nodaway County.
